Outstanding language services in the non-profit sector for First Draft
At First Draft, our mission is to protect communities from harmful misinformation. We work to empower society with the knowledge, understanding, and tools needed to outsmart false and misleading information in the moments that matter.

By standing up for truth in a polarised world, we can build more trust in society and help every community to thrive.

About the company

The translation of journalism and a newly created English jargon around the pandemic, without equivalents in many languages, made consistent and accurate use of terminology key.

The complexity of the course and guides required Global Lingo to offer support end-to-end, from source content and video animation edition before translation, to glossary creation, translation, transcription, subtitling and burning, video editing, First Draft native speakers review management, course reintegration, rebuild in LMS, DTP and Linguistic Sign Off.

Content in .doc, .mov, Final Cut Pro, PowerPoint and InDesign resulted in 70,000 words for translation and 1.5 hours of video for subtitling and editing.
Here’s what First Draft have to say about our services:

“A dynamic, flexible team that went the extra mile to fulfil our project aims and requirements. The dedicated Account Manager and Project Manager (Victoria Herrera and Patrizio Pucci), and the linguists worked hard to meet the required deadlines and made every effort to maintain great communication levels throughout. We are really proud of the fantastic results.”
